Sopra Steria indexes a €1.1bn credit line to a carbon footprint reduction target aligned with the Paris Agreement

Sopra Steria, a leading European tech company in consulting, digital services and software publishing, is strengthening its commitment to the fight against climate change by including a non-financial indicator structured by Crédit Agricole CIB and LCL in the refinancing terms and conditions of its €1.1bn syndicated credit facility.

As provided for by the transaction, which was oversubscribed and supported by all of Sopra Steria's main long-standing banking partners, the cost of financing will be annually indexed to a non-financial performance indicator (KPI) central to Sopra Steria's strategy for corporate responsibility, namely the reduction of greenhouse gas emissions.

With the sustainability-linked loan facility, Sopra Steria will be able to strengthen its climate and environmental initiatives. In line with the objective of limiting global warming to 1.5°C, the Group's commitment to reducing greenhouse gas emissions by 85% per employee by 2040 for Scopes 1, 2 and 3 (partial)⁽¹⁾ has been approved by the Science Based Target Initiative and is part of Sopra Steria's low-carbon strategy launched nearly ten years ago. As a member of the European Climate Pact and the European Green Digital Coalition, Sopra Steria is committed to the ecological transition of the digital sector, with a view to helping its clients and the Company in the fight against climate change and contributing to the transformation of the economy.

For the fifth year in a row in 2021, Sopra Steria was recognized as a world leader in corporate climate action by being included on the A list of the CDP Climate Change ranking.

With input from Crédit Agricole CIB and LCL, Sopra Steria has drafted a framework document specifying the allocation of the contribution related to an environmental criterion in accordance with the four pillars of the Green Bond Principles⁽²⁾. The lenders and Sopra Steria have committed to financing high-impact digital projects contributing to the first two objectives of the European Taxonomy, on mitigating and adapting to climate change. The projects will be chosen based on a number of eligibility criteria by a selection committee of experts. Allocation and impact reports will be communicated to lenders on an annual basis.

"This innovative transaction strengthens our sustainable development strategy consistent with our vision and our values. It demonstrates the Sopra Steria Group's ability to prepare for and integrate our major collective environmental and societal challenges," said Cyril Malargé, Chief Executive Officer of Sopra Steria.

"Crédit Agricole CIB is proud to have helped Sopra Steria with LCL to structure this transaction, which reflects the Group's commitment to decarbonising its entire value chain. In addition to this ambitious objective, Sopra Steria has paved the way for a new market standard through a framework document setting out the terms for transferring the contribution linked to an environmental criterion to innovative impact-based digital projects, in line with the recommendations of the Green Bond Principles," said Nathalie Sarel, Head of Sustainable Banking, SMEs/mid-cap companies, at Crédit Agricole CIB.

“We would like to thank Sopra Steria for placing its trust in us as the ESG coordinator of this major refinancing transaction, in terms of the amount and ambition of the transaction as well as the high standards it embodies relative to the reduction of the Group’s carbon footprint. This ambition needs to be promoted and disseminated as widely as possible to meet the huge challenge of the climate emergency. This indexed loan contributes to this necessity,” said Björn de Fos, Head of Sustainable Financing at LCL.

(1) Sopra Steria’s Scope 3 (partial) greenhouse gas emissions include emissions related to business travel and off-site data centres, as provided for in categories 3.6 and 3.8 of the GHG Protocol.

(2) The Green Bond Principles are recommendations and guidelines for green-bond issuers published by the International Capital Market Association. The principles concern four main areas: the use of funds, the process for evaluating and selecting funded projects, the management of funds, and reporting.
